

This Cookies Policy outlines the details you need to know about what information Boxer collects using cookies and your consent regarding the accumulation of information.

Importance of a Cookies Policy

Our Cookies Policy is important because:

- It harnesses a relationship of trust between Boxer and you;
- It allows you to be selective about the what information you leave behind;
- It ensures that privacy legislation is not encroached upon; and
- It assures you that your personal information is not used for malicious gain by us or any of our third-parties of social media partners.

What are cookies and why do we use them?

Boxer might use cookies and other techniques such as web beacons when you visit our websites. “Cookies” are small text files used by us to recognise repeat users, facilitate your on-going access to and use of our websites and allow us to track your usage behaviour and compile aggregated data that will allow us to improve the functionality of our websites and content. “Web beacons” are small, clear picture files used to follow your movements on our websites. For example, storing your preferred settings for the next time you visit.

The information Boxer collect from cookies enables us to:

- tailor our websites to your personal needs;
- remember the notifications that you have been shown, so that you are not shown them again;
- help us link your browsing information to you and your personal information, for example, when you choose to register for a service;
- make improvements and updates to our websites based on the way you want to use them; and

The type of information collected by cookies is not used to personally identify you.

What kind of cookies do we use?

We use the following categories of cookies:

Category 1: Necessary Cookies

Necessary cookies enable you to use our websites and all its features, such as maintaining an anonymous session while visiting the website and enabling access to secure areas of our websites. Without these cookies you may not be able to use all the features of our websites.

Category 2: Performance or Analytic Cookies

Performance cookies collect information about how you use our websites so we can maintain availability and continuously improve performance. For example, they collect information on which pages you visit most often and any error messages you may get i.e. the overall user experience. The information collected by these cookies is anonymous. They do not collect any information that can identify you personally.

Category 3: Functionality Cookies

Functionality cookies enable us to provide you with a more personalised experience. They help us to remember data, such as your username and language preference, to save you having to enter them again the next time you visit. The information these cookies collect is anonymous. They cannot track your browsing activity on other websites.

Category 4: Targeting or Advertising Cookies

Boxer and our service providers may use advertising cookies to deliver ads that we believe are relevant to you and your interests. For example, we may use targeting or advertising cookies to customise the advertising and content you receive on our websites, to limit the number of times you see the same advertisement on our websites and to help measure the effectiveness of our advertising campaigns.

Category 5: Third Party Cookies

Our websites use third party cookies from social network sites such as Google, Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn to enable in-depth campaign reporting and to track social network users when they visit our websites, by using a tagging mechanism provided by those social networks. These cookies can also be used for event tracking and re-marketing purposes. Any data collected with these tags will be used in accordance with our Privacy Statement and with the social network's privacy policies.

How can you manage your cookie settings?

To ensure you get the best possible experience when visiting our websites, Boxer recommend that you accept cookies. However, you can opt-out of each cookie category (except strictly necessary cookies) by clicking on the "cookie settings" button or disable cookies in your web browser.

To learn about how to control cookies, visit <https://www.aboutcookies.org/how-to-control-cookies/>.

To learn about how to remove cookies, visit <https://www.aboutcookies.org/how-to-delete-cookies/>.

Cookies may, however, be necessary to provide you with certain features available on our website. If you disable such cookies you may not be able to use some website features, and your access to our website may be limited.

Security of Cookies

Cookies do not act maliciously on computer systems. They cannot be used to spread malware or viruses nor access your hard drive. This does not mean that cookies are not relevant to your privacy and anonymity on the Internet.